

COMPANY

Cooper Natural was founded in August 2001 out of the desire of small farmers to build an associative, participatory and transparent organization that would help promote regenerative ecological family farming in the region. In doing so, we are trying to keep people in the countryside by paying them a fair and decent wage for their work and contributing to the preservation of the environment and biodiversity for future generations.

At the same time, we are offering healthy food products produced according to the concepts of agroecology, which, from their cultivation to their final preparation, show the sense of love and dedication of the people who take part in this organization.

PRODUCTS

We believe that it is from food that we obtain the vital energy to help build our health, our thinking and acting, our relationships. As a result, our mission is to offer healthy, organically produced food products, a process guaranteed by certification. That's what we do too, thinking consciously and responsibly about nature.
