

BRAZILIAN GINGER

COMPANY

Our history began in Alto Caxixe, in the Montanhas region of Espírito Santo, with the production of tomatoes by a family farm. From a solid foundation of work, dedication, and a vision for the future, Agroplante has achieved significant and scalable growth, consolidating itself as one of the major references in tomato production in Espírito Santo and Brazil.

Throughout this journey, we have developed a line of selected products, with rigorous quality control, traceability, and excellence at every stage of production.

PRODUCTS

NCM 0910.11.00

Our portfolio includes outstanding products from Brazilian agribusiness, including conventional fresh ginger, baby ginger, and organic ginger, all produced in Santa Maria de Jetibá, Espírito Santo. This origin holds a strategic position in our exports, with a product widely recognized for its superior quality and growing demand in international markets.

Agroplante ginger is cultivated in a region favored by its favorable microclimate and highly fertile soils. Produced under strict quality standards, it offers selected rhizomes of excellent caliber, uniform color, low moisture content, and complete traceability, from cultivation to shipment. Its classification meets international phytosanitary requirements, and the packaging is designed to ensure maximum preservation during global transport and distribution.

We differentiate ourselves through consistency in supply, rigorous quality control, and a logistics structure prepared to serve the most diverse markets around the world. More than an agricultural commodity, we deliver a product with controlled technical specifications, developed for buyers seeking safety, regularity, and excellence.

DETAILS ON PRODUCTION CAPACITY, SEASONALITY AND OTHER CHARACTERISTICS:

Our differential lies in the combination of strategic origin, logistical excellence, and agile service. More than supplying products, we deliver reliability, operational compliance, and predictability, adding security and competitiveness to our partners.
