COMPANY

Agroindústria São Pedro began planting the pecan orchard in 2012, dedicating more than eight years to it until the first commercial harvests literally delivered the first fruits. Agroindústria São Pedro's pecan cultivation seeks to balance the agro-ecosystem. Integrated management technologies promote soil fertility, plant health and the conservation of natural resources, providing sustainable production.

The result of this work has been marvelous and fills us with pride. Growing pecan trees with sustainability provides, in addition to the desired productivity and profitability, the quality that only nature in balance and symbiosis with the orchard can bring us.

Agroindústria São Pedro / Pecan Gold has a modern structure for processing and storing the produce from its 60 hectares of orchards, as well as serving partner producers.

We are committed to excellence at every stage of the process.

From harvesting the pecans to storing them in cold storage, we ensure that each batch meets the highest quality standards. We work with state-of-the-art equipment that ensures efficiency and precision, reflecting our principle that quality begins at the source.

The fruit is harvested completely mechanically, avoiding contact with the ground and preserving its natural color and flavor. The product is then stored in cold rooms, ensuring stocks are available all year round. What's more, each harvest comes with technical quality reports attesting to the characteristics of each batch on offer, reinforcing our seriousness and transparency.
