COMPANY

A dream finally came true in 2009 when a legal instrument was established representing the interests of family farmers in the Baixo Sul region, with the creation of the Baixo Sul Family Farmer Cooperative. COOPAFBASUL.

Its primary objective is to promote the socio-productive inclusion of the family farmers who have been in conditions involving socio-economic vulnerability. The coop strives to generate family income, democratic construction, sustainable development and appreciation for the cultural diversity of the territory.

PRODUCTS

Our guaraná possesses characteristics that distinguish it from others in the market. The product boasts a seal of family farming participation, thereby guaranteeing that its origin is from family, settler and quilombola farming. After the collective decision to form a cooperative, in addition to being able to directly sell the grain, they built a solid and lasting partnership based on a win-win with an industry, where the guarana seed is processed, returns to the cooperative and is placed on the market. Another distinction incorporated into the products is a social, cultural and environmental identity that is aligned with the quality, elevating the products to a solid consolidation in the domestic and international market.
