PRODUCTS

NCM 2007.99.10

Levite jams are premium products made from selected Amazonian fruits, such as cupuaçu, açaí, and other native species, using fresh pulp and without the addition of artificial flavorings or colorings. This care preserves the authenticity, color, and natural aroma of the ingredients. With rigorous process control, we guarantee texture, shine, and a harmonious balance between sweetness and acidity.

They stand out for their exotic, distinctive, and extremely high-quality flavor, providing a sophisticated sensory experience. With a strong Amazonian identity, these jams combine origin, culture, and refinement, resulting in high value-added products aimed at an audience seeking differentiation, authenticity, and connection with the essence of the forest.
