

COMPANY

Back in the 90s, Sekita Agronegócios kicked off its journey in Brazilian agribusiness.

For over 30 years, we have been producing products with quality, knowledge, investments in technologies and food security, all without leaving aside the tradition of valuing people, the environment and loyalty to what we do.

Sekita now produces garlic, carrots, beets and cabbage - all with high quality, freshness, traceability and production capacity to serve the market all-year-round.

PRODUCTS

NCM 07.03.2090

Quality at all steps in the processes, with planning and technology for the production of Brazilian purple garlic. Garlic is a highly prominent seasoning in the world of cuisine and is also used as a natural remedy.

It boasts a high amount of allicin, vitamins A, C, B2 and B6, amino acids and minerals such as iron, iodine and silicon.

The garlic is packaged and receives a QR code for traceability that allows it to be tracked from its origin until the product reaches the consumer, resulting in a complete information system from production to sales.

Our mission is to "Producing foods that make people feel good!"
