

COFFEE

COMPANY

In 1878, João Manoel Franco planted his first coffee trees on the Pinhal do Campestre farm, one of the pioneers in establishing the crop, which had just arrived in southern Minas Gerais, today the world's largest producing region.

Favored by the climate, altitude, and volcanic soils, crops developed well and became the farm's main activity.

Today, our Sítio Belém, a remnant of this farm, is the fifth generation producing some of the best coffee in Brazil.

PRODUCTS

NCM 09.01.11.10

The 1878 is a special coffee, produced at an altitude of 1200 meters, which makes it an excellent drink, with balanced notes of sweetness, body, and acidity and distinctive nuances of chocolate, toasted caramel, almonds, red fruits, and others, achieving ratings above 85 points.

The 1878 specialty coffee can be purchased in 500-gram and 250-gram packages, roasted in beans or ground, or raw, in 30-kilo packages.

Feel the pleasure of a cup of the true coffee of the Volcanic Region: 1878 Specialty Coffees.

We, from Café 1878, are small producers and work in partnership with other families. Our production is based on the tripod of sustainability, seeking a balance between the environment and the social and economic conditions of those involved and of the property.

DETAILS ON PRODUCTION CAPACITY, SEASONALITY AND OTHER CHARACTERISTICS:

With one harvest a year, between the months of June and September, Sítio Belém produces an average of 600 60-kilo bags.
