PRODUCTS

NCM 2008.99.00

Ouro Verde fruit pulps are 100% natural, produced exclusively from selected fruit and free from preservatives or artificial colorings. Practical and versatile, they preserve the authentic flavor and original nutrients of the fruit, making them ideal for juices, desserts, ice cream and various industrial applications. Our portfolio includes passion fruit, mango, acerola and açai flavors, all processed under strict quality control and frozen immediately after processing, guaranteeing freshness, stability and sensory standardization.

acerola and açai flavors, all processed under strict quality control and frozen immediately after processing, guaranteeing freshness, stability and sensory standardization.

Ouro Verde's great differential lies in the combination of quality of origin, industrial standardization and sustainable commitment. We work with rigorously selected fruit, grown in regions with a favorable tropical climate, which ensures a high pulp content, vibrant color and intense flavor. The entire process follows traceability protocols and good manufacturing practices, guaranteeing food safety and uniformity between batches. In addition, quick freezing preserves the nutrients and sensory profile of the fruit as much as possible, resulting in a stable, reliable and excellent-performing product for brands and industries seeking superior quality.
