COMPANY

Fazenda Univale is a major banana producer in the Ribeira Valley/SP. Surrounded by the Atlantic Forest, with abundant rivers and a mild winter climate, it produces quality bananas in balance with the forest and in compliance with environmental laws. The property, spanning over 430 hectares, is located in the rural area of the municipality of Jacupiranga, in the district of Guaraú.

The property has been owned by the Romão family for 36 years, with Silvio and Augusto, father and son, both radiologists, as its directors. They are the 4th and 5th generation of farmers. Silvio, a graduate of Unesp Botucatu, is retiring from medicine, while Augusto remains fully active. Both were named rural doctors by Unesp Ciência magazine.

PRODUCTS

Univale Foods is the result of the integration between the agricultural tradition of Fazenda Univale and innovation in the development of banana-based foods. With over a decade of international certification and a solid management culture, the company adopts rigorous quality standards at all stages of production, from cultivation to processing.

The raw material used comes from carefully selected bananas grown under sustainable and controlled agricultural practices. With this commitment, Univale Foods develops a line of natural snacks, including crispy banana chips and banana bites in different flavors, combining convenience, taste, and nutritional quality.

The products are made with simple, natural ingredients, using banana, palm oil, salt, and natural seasonings, with no added preservatives. Furthermore, they are gluten-free, vegan, and aligned with healthy eating trends, offering a differentiated alternative to conventional snacks.
