

COMPANY

A company specializing in the export of Brazilian mangoes, committed to quality, traceability, and global service. Mango Man is a benchmark in the export of high-quality mangoes, offering an experience that goes beyond the fruit itself.

We build long-term partnerships with small, medium, and large local producers, guaranteeing freshness, flavor, and valuing the dedication of those who cultivate the land. Our commitment is to bring the flavor of Brazilian mangoes to the world with transparency, quality, and personalized service, delivering a complete journey from field to table.

We carefully select our mangoes, applying best agricultural practices to ensure that each fruit meets the highest quality standards. From cultivation to transportation, we monitor every step of the process to ensure that our mangoes reach the end customer with exceptional freshness and flavor. Our commitment goes beyond the product, extending to customer service, transparency, and continuous improvement, always focused on exceeding expectations.

The fruits are harvested at the ideal point of ripeness and selected manually. We use appropriate protection to preserve freshness and quality, as well as modern processes that guarantee high standards at every stage.

The Keitt mango has firm flesh, a mild flavor, low fiber content, and excellent durability. Its resistance to handling and consistent quality make it one of the most sought-after varieties for export.

Kent mangoes stand out for their soft, sweet flesh with a slight touch of acidity, providing a balanced flavor. Its good durability and resistance to transport make it ideal for international markets.

The Palmer mango has firm, sweet flesh with a low fiber content, making it excellent for both fresh consumption and processing. Its long durability and resistance to transport guarantee its presence in global markets.
