

COMPANY

Created in 2019, the cooperative was born from the union of an association of citrus growers and today brings together 125 cooperative members, all family farmers, spread across 11 municipalities in the Alto Uruguai region, in the north of Rio Grande do Sul. This organization strengthens not only production, but also the social and economic development of local communities.

With a focus on quality and sustainability, the cooperative is FAIRTRADE certified, ensuring fair trade practices, respect for the environment and appreciation of farmers' work. Also, some of the cooperative members are in the process of transitioning to organic production, further expanding their commitment to healthy and responsible food.

FCOJ Juice Concentrate with the Tradition of Family Farming.

We produce FCOJ from the oranges grown by our cooperative members, in a 100% traceable process, with the possibility of physically segregating the product. This traceability guarantees trust, quality and controlled origin.

Fruits from our region stand out for their intense color, distinctive flavor and lack of bitterness, even at lower RATIO. The result is a concentrated juice of excellence, versatile and ideal for various industrial applications.

Combining tradition, care in cultivation and innovation in processes, we deliver a product that reflects the best of family citrus farming in Alto Uruguai.
