

COMPANY

The company started by planting a blueberry orchard in 2005, with the aim of seeking out foreign markets. We exported for three years, but the logistical costs made the process unfeasible. With its growth and evolution, Nutrisaúde now works with a range of different frozen fruits, fruit pulps, and soon frozen vegetables.

The company sells its products heavily in the south-east and is looking to open up a market in the south of Brazil. Especially in retail chains. Its plantation is located in the municipality of São Francisco de Paula - RS, a region known as Campos de Cima da Serra. Its climate and vegetation provide the market with fruit of excellent quality, leaving its customers satisfied with the products they receive.
