COMPANY

NEORGANICS (trade name Orgânicos Baturité) was founded in Palmácia (CE), a region marked by fertile soils, a balanced climate and an agricultural tradition. Founded by a family of producers committed to human health, food quality and environmental preservation, the company arose from the conviction that sustainable agriculture is capable of transforming lives and markets.

From the very first plantings, the goal was clear: to produce organic fruit and vegetables, especially high-quality organic bananas, free from pesticides, with responsible management and respect for nature's time. Using agro-ecological techniques and regenerative systems, the company has consolidated a production model that combines technical knowledge, socio-environmental responsibility and family tradition.

The sensory profile of NEORGANICS bananas is the result of growing them in an agroforestry system, which ensures fertile soils, a stable structure and a favorable microclimate. These natural conditions result in more robust fruit, with a firm texture and natural sweetness after ripening. Each batch is accompanied by technical monitoring of the main quality attributes: average fruit mass, Total Soluble Solids (°Brix), pH and Total Titratable Acidity (ATT), according to reference methodologies for bananas (INIBAP / Dadzie & Orchard). The results are documented in reports available to buyers, ensuring transparency and reliability.

Our bananas are produced in an organic agroforestry system in Palmácia (Serra de Baturité-CE), providing delicious, healthy fruit that promotes food safety for the consumer. We have the Organic Certification (Audit), with traceability by lot, offering the buyer a premium product. Original packaging and communication designed for retailers, distributors and foodservice increase visibility, shelf appeal and conversion in e-commerce.

Details of production capacity and other characteristics: Annual availability: year-round production in Brazil. Supply can be concentrated according to variety, region and management (irrigated or rainfed). Local context in Baturité/CE: there is usually more supply in the second half of the year, when prices tend to fall due to the concentrated harvest. Neorganics mitigates oscillations with staggered harvesting and logistical and commercial support from Mossoró (RN), maintaining continuous supply. The Northeast's production base: Ceará and Rio Grande do Norte have irrigated chains that favor regularity. For recurring contracts, this translates into continuity of supply and stability of standard.

DETAILS ON PRODUCTION CAPACITY, SEASONALITY AND OTHER CHARACTERISTICS:

Neorganics produces bananas all year round, with a staggered harvest and efficient logistics from Mossoró (RN), guaranteeing a continuous supply and a stable standard, even with harvest variations in Baturité (CE) and other regions in the Northeast and Southeast.
