CAFÉ LEÔNCIO

COMPANY

A chemical engineer, doctor, and researcher, Tatiele Dalfior Ferreira combines family tradition, science, and innovation in the coffee farming of Espírito Santo. Back in Governador Lindenberg (ES), she contributes to the modernization of the family's coffee production, focusing on quality, technology, and traceability. Her work was recognized by the Women in Ag Award (2020) and the 18th ABIC National Coffee Quality Contest (2021), in the Conilon category.

At the helm of Leoncio Café, she works on the commercialization and enhancement of Espírito Santo's conilon coffee, connecting producers to new markets. Her work highlights quality, origin, and sustainability, strengthening family farming and female leadership.

We present a Special Conilon Coffee, produced by women and recognized for its excellence, sustainability, and commitment to quality. With a score above 84 points, the coffee expresses the richness of the Espírito Santo terroir, the result of careful work at all stages of production. Its quality was nationally recognized with the title of best Conilon at the 18th ABIC National Coffee Quality Contest, achieving 86.5 points.

Sold as green beans, washed, and with a guarantee of glyphosate-free production, the coffee meets the requirements of the European regulation EUDR, focused on environmental preservation and combating deforestation. In addition to sensory excellence, it represents responsible, traceable, and sustainable production, which values female leadership, strengthens family farming, and promotes the recognition of Espírito Santo conilon coffee in national and international markets.

DETAILS ON PRODUCTION CAPACITY, SEASONALITY AND OTHER CHARACTERISTICS:

The annual production capacity is up to 500 bags of 60 kg of commodity conilon coffee, in addition to 1,500 kg of special conilon coffee, with a score above 84 points, serving different markets and segments that seek quality and excellence.
